MUHAMMAD AND THE FEMALE CAPTIVES

by Elias

INTRODUCTION

Muhammad and his followers Islamic raids against their tribal enemies, the Banu Mustaliq, resulted in the capture of many women and children, including the prominent daughter of the prominent chief of the Banu Mustaliq, Juwairiyah. Muhammad married Juwairiyah and her captive female companions, and Muhammad's followers freed the captive women and children because they became related by marriage to Muhammad.

Female slaves were used for prostitute by such Muslims. But they also provided another service to their masters.

The material Ayesha is alleged to have said to be provided to discourage Muhammad from taking more wives.
